WHY SO MANY REALITIES?

"Why So Many Realities? how virtual reality, augmented reality, and mixed reality help archaeologists relive the past"- Talk by Donald H. Sanders, Monday, June 19, 7:30 PM.

Expanding on the themes from his last appearances at Kendal -- how virtual reality helps us better understand the past -- on June 19 Donald Sanders will delve more deeply into the meaning behind buzz words now heard more frequently in contexts well beyond archaeology. He will focus on three different methods of creating personalized interactive experiences based on 3D computer graphics, defining and explaining each of the "realities" with examples from his work. As a bonus, he will be providing live demos using two of the technologies, allowing brave audience members to don a virtual reality headset for a visit to ancient Assyria (to a re-creation of a palace that was blown up and destroyed by ISIS in 2016).

Donald H. Sanders, nephew of Bob Sanders, is Founder and President, Learning Sites., Inc., world leader in virtual heritage. He earned his MA, MPhil, and Ph.D., from Columbia University, Department of Art History and Archeology, and his BArch from Case Western Reserve University School of Architecture.

NO TUESDAY ART ACTIVITY

There is no Art Activity on Tuesday in the ART. We have tried to correct this error that has cropped up from time to time in the Spotlight for the last 3 years since the activity was ended. We have a program on Saturday at 10AM to 12:00N, entitled Beginners +

On the first Tuesday after our regular Thursday Meeting, there is held a "Critique" where members have other members comment on their work in Progress. It is very valuable.

TRIPS

HUDSON RIVER CRUISE ON THE EVENING STAR

Hudson River cruise takes place on a Thursday this week, because no cruise is scheduled on a Wednesday.

Short Wait List

Wed, June 28, Museum of the City of New York: docent tour of "New York at its Core," which focuses on the city's 400-year evolution from a Dutch village to a World Capital in two sections -- Port City (1609-1898) and World City (1898-2012) -- plus the Future City Lab with interactive features letting visitors design the future; and "Muslim in New York," photographs of Muslims from the mid-20th- to the early 21st-century showing their diversity; plus free time.

Please do not sign up for this trip unless you are willing to avoid making conflicting plans for the date. The Trips Book is in the hall between the Computer Room and the Gathering Room side exit.

****

REMINDER – if you are using a luggage cart from any of the buildings please remember to put them back in the elevator lobbies when you are finished. We are finding lately that too many times they are being left outside of apartments, on different floors or even in the elevator! If they continue not to be returned to the proper places, then we may have to have them all in Mary Powell, and signed out for usage. PLEASE return them to the elevator lobbies when finished. Thank you.
